Defending Awesome is more than your local custom tee and hoodie printer.

They also print stickers and basic signage. Since the beginning of COVID they've been here for the Banff community, bringing physical distancing awareness to the public through their signage and stickers at the local hospital, post office, Banff Food Rescue, and other essential businesses.

Defending Awesome is now here to help re-launch business in Banff by providing physical distancing stickers are a reasonable cost that users can be safely applied to floors, walls or windows. Furthermore they're also offering foam core, coroplast and poster signage to help inform your customers that you are now open for business!

Defending Awesome is located at 112 - 220 Bear St Mall in Banff, however their location is closed to the public at the moment.

For more information on their services and pricing please contact Defending Awesome at facebook.com/defendingawesome or by email at info@defendingawesome.com.
